Councilwoman Myers has consistently dominated council meetings by speaking as frequently and as long as possible, often in violation of the council's rules. Her comments often stray from the agenda into topics which go nowhere and serve no apparent purpose. Councilwoman Myers routinely speaks as much as — if not more than — the council president, and certainly more than all other council members combined. In fact, this behavior has only gotten worse over the past six years, and unfortunately, no council president has been able to effectively manage her. Monopolizing our discussions in this way has made Councilwoman Myers the unofficial leader of this council, so I think we should just go ahead and make it official. It is my hope that this nomination sends a message, and that if elected as the council's president or vice president, Councilwoman Myers will choose to be more respectful of her fellow council members' time as well as the public's time.
