Anything removed or damaged due to City maintenance activities is the responsibility of the owner to fix. I "think" the language is the LTU states this. That's part of the risk of an LTU...we can't guarantee we won't need to access our infrastructure in our right of way.

Cynthia,

Pensacola Energy has a 2" gas main within the east R/W of Baylen St. Our maps show it located at the back of the existing sidewalk. Is the sidewalk represented in the LTU documentation the existing sidewalk or has it been modified? The measurements aren't quite readable. With this close proximity, less than 1', from the LTU area, it would be required, if the need arises, for Pensacola Energy to dig within the LTU area in order to perform repairs or maintenance to the gas main.

Thanks,
Diane

I seem to recall a discussion (nothing formal) about an LTU for this developer's sole usage of the existing on-street parking on both Baylen and Intendencia. Is this to be a separate LTU to come in the future or have they backed away from this idea?
